Margaret Futerer

Empowering women to live Magnificently.

Margaret Futerer is an accomplished business owner, inspirational speaker and author. Her story of courage has touched the lives of many, and her unique life experience brings hope to all who hear it.

She was born in a small community in Montana that openly practiced polygamy. Her story is one of growing up in that community, learning of the limited purpose for her existence and yearning for more. As a young girl she knew she wanted more than she was presented with. She wanted more education, more life experience and more possibilities. After enduring tremendous abuse, secrecy and hopelessness, she found a way out at the age of seventeen.

She carried that desire for freedom and willingness to take risks into her adult life and has become a successful entrepreneur. It is her eagerness to push forward without fear that people respect, and her passion for life that people are drawn to. Her story is one of hope and triumph, evidence of the resilience of the human spirit.

It is Margaret's passion and life purpose to teach other women what she has learned through her life experiences. She created Magnificent Women to empower other women to overcome the circumstances of their lives and find their own life purpose. Among her many professional and personal commitments she dedicates time to helping disadvantaged women and teens through mentoring and community involvement.
